THE GOVERNOR'S SPEECH

AT THE OPENING OF THE DOMINION HOUSE THIS AFTERNOON.

His Excellency Touches Upon the Trade Questions—The Cattle Trade Between Canada and the United Kingdom—Items From Other Parts of the Continent.

OTTAWA, April 30.—Lord Stanley opened parliament this afternoon, with the following speech:

Hon. gentlemen of the Senate; gentlemen of the House of Commons:

I am glad to welcome you to the duties of the first session of the new parliament, which I hope will be memorable for wise deliberations and for measures adopted to the progress and development of the Dominion. The season in which you are assembled has opened auspiciously for the industries of our people, and let us hope that their labors may be crowned with fruitful returns from land and sea and that the great resources of Canada may continue to reward the toil and enterprise of its inhabitants.

My advisers, availing themselves of opportunities which were presented in the closing months of last year caused the administration of the United States to be reminded of the willingness of the Government of Canada to join in making efforts for the extension and development of the trade between the Republic and the Dominion, as well as for the friendly adjustment of those matters of an international character which remain unsettled. I am pleased to say that these representations have resulted in the assurance that in October next the Government of the United States will be prepared to consider the best means of arriving at a practical solution of these important questions. The papers relating to this subject will be laid before you under these circumstances and in the hope that the proposed conference may result in arrangements beneficial to both countries. You will be called upon to consider the expediency of extending for the present season the principal provisions of the protocol annexed to the Washington Treaty, 1888, known as the "modus vivendi."

A disposition having been manifested in the United Kingdom to impose on seagoing ships engaged in the cattle trade increased safeguards, and greater restrictions against improper treatment, a careful inquiry has been made as to the incitings of the trade in so far as this country is concerned. The evidence elicited on this inquiry will be laid before you; while I am glad to learn that our shipping is free from reproach in that regard, your attention will be invited to a measure which will remove all reasonable apprehensions of abuses arising in the future in connection with so important a branch of our commerce.

The early coming into force of the Imperial statute relating to the vice-admiralty courts of the Empire has made it necessary to revise the laws in force in Canada respecting our courts of maritime jurisdiction, and a measure will therefore be laid before you, bound to re-organize those tribunals. A code of the criminal law has been prepared, in order that that branch of our jurisprudence may be simplified and improved to which your best attention is invited.

Measures relating to the foreshores of the Dominion and the obstruction of its navigable waters will be submitted to you, and you will also be asked to consider amendments to the acts relating to the Northwest Territories, to the Exchequer Court act and to the acts relating to the trade marks.

Gentlemen of the House of Commons:

The accounts for the past year will be submitted to you.

The revenue after providing for the services to which you appropriated it, has left a surplus for the works which you designed to be carried on by capital expenditure.

The estimates for the coming year will be laid before you at an early date.

Honorable Gentlemen of the Senate; Gentlemen of the House of Commons:

I pray that in the consideration of these matters and in the performance of the labors which will devolve on you, your deliberations may be divinely aided and that your wisdom and patriotism may enlarge the prosperity of the Dominion and promote in every way the well being of its people.

Hon. Alexander Mackenzie was in his seat when the House met at 3 p.m.

Mr. Laurier called attention to the fact that the returning officer of Chicoutimi had not made his return of the election there. Sir John said it was on its way.

THE CAPITAL.

Both Parties in Caucus—Whips Appointed—The Vice-Regal Party Cheered.

Special to the TIMES.]

OTTAWA, April 30.—Both parties assembled in caucus this forenoon, the Government meeting in their new quarters in the old press room, and the Liberals in the railway committee room. The former sat about one hour, and did little beyond electing whips; while the latter sat over two hours, which would indicate an aggressive policy from the start. The Government whips are: Ontario, Taylor, McKay and Corby; Quebec, Bergeron, Frechette and Pope; Maritime Provinces, McDonald and Wood, "Westmoreland;" Manitoba, Northwest and British Columbia, Daly, Selkirk.

Parliament was opened by His Excellency, the Governor-General, with the usual formalities at three o'clock today. As is the case always at the opening of a new parliament, the attendance on the floor of the chamber was large, while the galleries were packed.

Princess Louise Dragoon Guards supplied the escort to His Excellency from Rideau Hall and the rear Guard of Honor was provided by the Governor-General's foot guards. All along the route the occupants of the vice-regal carriage were cheered, Lord and Lady Stanley bowing their acknowledgement.

TO SAVE THE SEALS.

Special Agent Going to Behring Sea—Rookery Killing May be Stopped.

WASHINGTON CITY, April 28.—In seeking full and trustworthy information regarding the fisheries controversy Secretary Foster has selected J. S. Brown, of the geological bureau, as a special agent, to proceed to Pribilof Island to make an examination into the condition of affairs.

The New York Herald's correspondent telegraphs: From present indications seal catching in Behring Sea this summer is going to be free to all comers. The revenue steamers Corwin and Rush will receive the usual public orders to proceed to the sealing grounds and enforce the law. Their commanders will likewise be furnished with confidential instructions not to molest any vessel engaged in sealing beyond the jurisdictional limit of three miles from the shore. Negotiations have been for several weeks pending between Blaine and Pauncefote looking to an arrangement of modus vivendi for the approaching season, but no conclusion has been reached. British exporters strenuously deny that the fur seal species is either diminishing or being driven from Behring Sea. They will not admit that there is any danger to sealing interests from the practice of marine sealing, but as a measure of precaution and comity toward the United States Salisbury expressed his willingness to bring about a suspension of marine sealing by British vessels in Behring Sea for one or even two seasons, provided Blaine will engage that there shall be no marine sealing by American vessels, nor any killing at the seal islands by lessees or natives during the agreed period of suspension. Professor Elliott, the Smithsonian government expert, on the part of the United States advocates a total suspension of seal killing for one or two years, as proposed by the British Government, as a measure of wise precaution, if not an absolute necessity. Blaine is understood to regard the proposition with favor, but the treasury department, which has the immediate responsibility of the matter, has not given its assent to that proposition to totally suspend seal killing at the islands the year round, which would inflict a loss of upwards of $1,000,000 upon public revenues, and of $500,000 upon the natives, who would thereby become a public charge upon the treasury. As the market turned out, the new lessees, comprising Messrs. D. O. Mills, of New York; Stephen B. Elkins, of West Virginia; and Isaac and Herman Liebes, of San Francisco, lost last year some $350,000 of profits by a reduction of the catch from 100,000 to 60,000 skins, and an additional $125,000 by a reduction to 21,000 skins ordered by the agent; hence they view with alarm the pending negotiations for the total suspension of all manner of seal killing, while the governments are arranging either a final settlement or permanent regulation of the fishery. Their objections to the proposed modus vivendi have been forcibly and effectively presented to the government, and they are understood to be confident no such arrangement will be made.

THE HEBREW REFUGEES.

Not Wanted in England, They Will Go to America, Brazil and Australia.

LONDON, April 28.—The Pall Mall Gazette gives great prominence to a scheme which is said to have been drafted in order to transport Hebrews from Poland and from Southeastern Europe to an immense tract of uninhabited land in Australia or Brazil. Baron Hirsch, who is credited with having originated this idea, is said to have had a long conference in Paris this week with the most able masters in labor. The baron, according to the report, decided to give $1,500,000 himself with which to start the project. Full details as to his plan for wholesale immigration are not given, but it is understood Baron Hirsch will be supported in this undertaking by other opulent Hebrews. The adoption of this plan, it is asserted, is greatly due to the fact of the United States closing her ports to destitute persons. This decision comes at an opportune moment from England, for the new United States legislation against the immigration of destitute aliens might result in converting the United Kingdom into a dumping ground for all Hebrew refugees of Europe. They are arriving here already at the rate of 17,000 annually.

ALBANY, N. Y., April 29.—The Baron Hirsch Land and Improvement Company, limited, was incorporated with a capital of $60,000, its object being to purchase, lease, improve and sell lands and buildings in the United States, and construct, maintain, lease and sell dwellings, workshops and factories. The principal office will be in New York.

ODESSA, April 29—Eight hundred Jewish families have been ordered to quit Kieff forthwith. There is much hardship among the poorer classes, and the police are exhibiting unusual cruelty. The rigor of the authorities frightens away many people entitled to permanent residences. Principals of large Jewish firms here are placing their business in the hands of Russians and leaving.

LONDON, April 29—Dispatches from Corfu give particulars of a serious outbreak of Greeks against Jews, originating over a charge of murder of a child, preferred first against one and then another. A military cordon had to be placed about the Jewish quarter to protect them from attacks. Many Jews were terribly beaten.

Gould Will say Them.

BOSTON, Mass., April 30.—It is stated on good authority that all the new collateral trust bonds of the Union Pacific Railway necessary to wipe out the floating debt of the road will be taken by the Equitable Life Insurance Company and Jay Gould. The bonds will bear interest at the rate of 5 per cent.

Remains Sent Home.

NEW YORK, April 30.—The body of Carrie Brown, who was hacked to death in the East River Hotel last week, was shipped to her relatives this morning at Salem, Mass.

SHE HAS A GRIEVANCE.

AMERICA MADE THE DUMPING GROUND OF CRIMINALS.

Wives and Lovers Left at Home Never See Their Husbands and Lovers Again—A Socialistic Letter Seized by the Government.

LONDON, April 30.—A correspondent writing from Hamburg says that much surprise is expressed there by the authorities of justice at the rejection in America of an emigrant named Bader, known to have been guilty of crime in Germany. The correspondent says that there is but little concealment of the custom in all the German states as well as other European countries of shipping all the incorrigable criminals to America. In Switzerland the released convict signs an agreement promising not to return to the country. Although America is not mentioned in the agreement, nearly all the exiled criminals go to America or England. The Government generally pays the passage, although, sometimes, the money is contributed by friends. The men are warned beforehand what to say when they reach America, and it is said that very few of them return to Germany, showing that they have been permitted to land. In this way the petty states of Germany save themselves considerable expense for prisoners. The convicts who would otherwise prove a permanent charge being regularly drafted off to the United States.

A CRYING EVIL.

The same correspondent writes that another crying evil with emigration from Germany is the number of wives and betrothed women who are deserted by husbands and lovers among the emigrants. The extent of this evil, he declared, can be appreciated only by minute enquiries among the poorer classes. The husbands or lovers go to America promising to send for those left behind and no doubt intending to do so, but they become entangled in other alliances after landing and finally abandon those in Germany altogether. Thousands of women and children, says the writer are thus deserted, and suggests for a remedy for this that married men should not be allowed to emigrate without their families.

EMIGRATION ON THE INCREASE.

The emigration from Hamburg is greatly on the increase and there has arrived during the week a large body of Lutherans driven from Russia by the revival of the religious persecutions. Some of them will remain in England and others proceed to the United States.

GERMANY'S MAY DAY.

The only signs approaching May Day in Berlin are the more frequent tramp of the troops in the leading streets, and the groups of workingmen discussing the coming occasion. The police authorities have announced that no demonstration tending to sedition or disorder will be permitted, and the best known members of the extreme socialist wing are dogged everywhere by detectives.

SEIZED BY THE GOVERNMENT.

It is said that an important letter addressed by Tom Mann, the English labor agitator, to the chief of the Westphalian mining strike, has never reached its destination, and is supposed to have been seized by the government.

NO PLACE FOR BISMARCK.

The startling statement is made that no place was reserved for Bismarck at Von Moltke's funeral had he attended, and that the Kaiser had plainly intimated his desire that the Prince should not be present. Whether this was communicated to Bismarck is not known. By his absence he saved the high officers who had formerly been servants at his bidding from an embarrassing situation, as any courtesy shown to Bismarck would have been promptly resented by the Emperor.

NO TROUBLE ANTICIPATED.

A Paris despatch states that the authorities anticipate no trouble to-morrow, but that an attempt at street rioting would be punished with greater severity than has been exercised since the extension of the commune.

ORDER AT ANY COST.

The French Government is said to have evidence that Boulangist money has been used to stir up the lowest class in Paris to a course of action that might give the banished leader a chance to figure as a restorer of order. It is the knowledge of these plots against the republic that has prompted the government to take an uncompromising stand against disorder, and to declare that law will be maintained at any cost. It is believed that this very attitude will prevent to-morrow's parades from becoming a disorderly mob.

INTERNATIONAL CONSPIRACY.

According to Rome advices the Italian Government are arresting anarchists and socialists in great numbers in the large towns. The government is said to have evidence of an international conspiracy to entail revolution in several Italian capitals. At any rate arrests are being made by the wholesale in Rome, Naples and Turin.

Manipur is Taken.

SIMLA, April 28.—The British columns have entered Manipur, which they found totally deserted. The magazine had exploded and the palace had been wrecked and stripped of everything of value. A ghastly sight was witnessed in the enclosure, where the heads of Commissioner Quinton and other Englishmen were found. General Graham's column on Saturday surprised a force of 1000 Manipuris intrenched behind earthworks. The British first cut off their retreat and then charged the Manipuris in a savage hand to hand fight, and then followed the enemy, who were completely routed, losing 200 men. One British officer was killed and four others wounded.

NANAIMO NEWS.

The Celebration of the 24th—A Steamer to Victoria—Granite Quarry, Etc.

NANAIMO, April 30.—A meeting was held in the Council Chambers last evening for the purpose of arranging the sports for May 24. Mayor Hilbert occupied the chair. A letter was read from Field and Dempster, the collectors, regretting their inability to be present owing to prior engagements. They were represented by Mr. F. C. Field, who presented a subscription list for the amount of $391.50. Mayor Hilbert alluded to the indifference which the press and citizens had shown in regard to the Queen's birthday, and hoped the next meeting would see a larger attendance.

Dr. Praeger stated that Mayor Oppenheimer had informed him that he intended to be present at the sports this year, and he hoped the disagraceful acts of selling races would be put a stop to this year. He advised that the sports should be open for amateurs only.

It was decided to hold the sports on Monday, May 25, as it is a legal Dominion holiday. On motion it was decided to ask Mr. Robins for the use of the "green" on that day; also to petition the Union Steamship Company to make a special trip from Vancouver on Monday morning and return to that city on Monday night. The meeting then adjourned until Monday next.

THE MERCHANTS' DESIRE.

A few of the merchants of this city are anxious to see Mr. Tully Boyce carry out his idea of forming a company to run a steamer between Nanaimo and Victoria, on account of the inconvenience they are at present put to in waiting for the daily freight to be discharged from the railroad cars. Several of the merchants claim that the freight for Nanaimo is first taken out to Wellington and is not again brought back until 2 o'clock, and then it is some two hours before they are enabled to gain possession of it. Should Mr. Boyce be successful in forming his company, he will meet with abundant support.

ANOTHER GRANITE ENTERPRISE.

A company has been formed in Nanaimo for the purpose of taking over the granite claim belonging to Major Downie, which is situated near Nelson Island, with the intention of working it at an early date. The granite is said to be of first-class quality and easy to work. A Vancouver firm sent a party of men up to this vicinity for the purpose of taking up the claim, but they were forestalled by the Major.

MEETING OF CHURCH MEMBERS.

The promoters of the new Episcopal church held a meeting in this city on Tuesday night for the purpose of appointing a committee to carry out the opening arrangement. There was a large attendance of both ladies and gentlemen, and a committee of ladies was chosen to tender the Rev. Mr. Lovey a reception upon his arrival to commence his duties, and which will be given in the Templars' hall, the place where the services will be held for the present until such arrangements have been made to build a church. The finances will be left in the hands of the church wardens for this and all purposes. Several members present signified their intention of supplying surplices to the choir if it was so desired.

LITTLE HAPPENINGS.

Messrs. Sloan and Scott have ordered two large handsome silver cups, which they intend to offer for an amateur sculling match on May 24.

It was suggested at the meeting last night that a "blackleg" race be introduced among the sports under the protection of C Battery.

The remuneration by-law, which is to be submitted to the ratepayers on Monday, is looked upon as already defeated.

The young ladies handed over to the secretary of the Y.M.C.A. the sum of $92, being the proceeds derived from the entertainment.

Charged With Forgery.

ATLANTA, Ga., April 30.—J. L. Dunn, claiming to be of the firm of Dunn & Perkins, Austin, Texas, was arrested last night in the Kimball House here, where he had been living for a week with a flashily dressed woman as his wife. No sooner was he taken in charge by the officer than the woman broke down and declared that she was not his wife, but she was Miss Helen Maurice, a variety actress and skirt dancer. Dunn two weeks ago induced her to live with him through promises of wealth. The charge on which Dunn was arrested was forgery on three sight drafts on Memphis merchants for $2500, using the name of Z. Stewart Crocker. The drafts were made in favor of Corbett & Co., of Liverpool. Attached to the drafts were bills of lading for cotton which, if it had existed, would have been ample collateral. Crocker claimed to be the representative of the Liverpool firm. The Memphis merchants association, as soon as they discovered the fraud, instructed the Atlanta officers to arrest Dunn. The prisoner claimed he was the victim of Corbett, but as he could not in any way establish the identity of such a man he will have to answer for him himself.

A Winnipegger's Opinion.

The following is taken from a letter from Mr. D. Davis, Winnipeg, Man.: "Being persuaded to use Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam for a troublesome cold, I was entirely cured by the use of two bottles."

TARTE SANGUINE.

He Proposes to Push His Charges—Important Revelations Expected.

MONTREAL, April 26.—Mr. J. Israel Tarte, on being seen by a reporter, chatted freely on the now famous McGreevy - Connolly - Murphy scandal, which for the last week has been occupying the attention of the Criminal Court at the Ancient Capital, and promises to be the burning question at the coming session. Generally he declares himself satisfied with the result so far. On being asked why his trial for libel did not come off, he replied: "It is simply because it is a private prosecution, and these must follow what is termed the general gaol delivery, but please bear in mind that the House meets on the 29th of April, and that I have been elected specially to lay this accusation from my seat, and this will comprise facts which have not been published, and among them important discoveries which I have made during the last month."

"Will these disclosures implicate others than the Hon. Thos. McGreevy?"

"I am very much afraid they will."

"How do you intend to proceed?"

"I have not yet made up my mind, but I will seize upon the first opportunity which is given me to show that I have no desire to recede from the position which I have taken."

"Is it true that the Local Government interfered to prevent the trials from proceeding?"

"No; they did not interfere, but the lawyers of Mr. Thos. McGreevy and Michael Connolly tried over and over again to have private cases fixed before criminal cases. Then, of course, the Crown stepped in, as was its duty, to have the people in goal first tried. All the fuss made by our opponents was mere bluff. Their object was to try and have O. E. Murphy and R. H. McGreevy convicted for conspiracy on Thos. Connolly's sole evidence, before the meeting of the House, because Murphy was the real financial head of the firm of Larkin, Connolly & Co., and that he paid large sums of money to Mr. Thos. McGreevy and others, as it will be proven by documents and verbal evidence.

"Would you not have preferred to stand your trial at this term?"

"I'll frankly admit that the public interest will be better served by an enquiry before the House of Commons which will bear on all matters in the case, and, moreover, Mr. Laurier is one of my counsel, Col. Amyot, who represented the Crown, is a member, and I myself now have a seat in the House. In that enquiry we need ministers, engineers, and public documents. Their object in trying us before the court was to limit the evidence to suit themselves. This is not a question between Mr. McGreevy and myself. What the country is interested in knowing is whether members of the House can be allowed to have communication of public tenders and figures, and to give them out to friendly contractors either to amend their tenders or buy out other tenderers. If I don't prove in a most conclusive way that the public chest has been robbed of hundreds of thousands of dollars, of course I will lose my seat and go disgraced into private life, because I have full faith in the documents in my possession."

"Do you believe the Government will itself ask for an enquiry?"

"I hope they will. I know personally the Ministers of the Crown, and I feel sure that they will not shield parties who may be proven guilty; but of course they don't know all the facts. The truth has been hidden from them as it has been from the public."

An American Athlete Speaks.

At the annual meet of athletes held on the grounds of the Montreal Lacrosse Club in Montreal, one of the celebrated American athletes was spoken to in regard to athletic matters and proper training. When asked, "Is it necessary for you athletes to take medicines, or often seek medical advice in order to keep in trim for your various contests?" He replied, "Indeed it is. We feel at times the need of a cleansing, toning and strengthening tonic, quite as much as mortals who never think of athletics. Speaking from a knowledge of facts, I may say that athletes often experience nervousness, weariness, low spirits, a fulness in the head, and are often troubled with a nervous wakefulness or insomnia. These are serious symptoms, and must be got rid of, if the athlete wishes to excel in his particular line of athletics. As for myself, and I may also speak for other athletic friends, we shun drugs and medicines generally, and now invariably use Paine's Celery Compound. I have used it with great success, and am quite satisfied that it is the athlete's friend. It tones up and renews the whole system, both mental and physical, and gives to the digestive organs a vigor that every athletes requires. I would be pleased to see your athletes of Canada better acquainted with this valuable remedy, and prize it as highly as we do on the other side."

Coming from such a source, these opinions should have weight with all interested in lacrosse, baseball and bicycling during the present year

Never Thought of Them Before!

Mrs. Davis one day last week, called at the house of her friend Mrs. Dorset, and found her in a desperate condition. Her temper was not an angelic one, and Mrs. Davis, who was ever ready to pour oil on trouble waters, said: "Mrs. Dorset, do you wish to live long and happy?" "Indeed I do Mrs. Davis; and find I have all I need to reach these two points but one thing." "And what is that you lack to attain this happiness Mrs. Dorset?" "Simply, Mrs. Davis, a dye that will color properly and give good results. I have just spoilt some lovely silk by using a miserable dye that my druggist recommended to me." "Ah! Mrs. Dorset you require to use Diamond Dyes to make your happiness complete. They will never cause you to worry or fret." "Many thanks Mrs. Davis, I really never thought of them, being almost a novice in housekeeping; but for the future, I'll only use the Diamond Dyes."

Editorial Evidence.

GENTLEMEN—Your Hagyard's Yellow Oil is worth its weight in gold for both internal and external use. During the late la grippe epidemic we found it a most excellent preventive, and for sprained limbs, etc., there is nothing to equal it.

ATTEMPTED ASSASSINATION.

President Balmaceda Escapes Death From a Dynamite Bomb.

VALPARAISO, April 29.—President Balmaceda, of Chili, escaped death from assassination as if by a miracle, to-day. He and his family were seated in the parlor of the presidential mansion, when a dynamite bomb was thrown into one of the rooms through a window. The bomb exploded and did much damage to the room, but no one was hurt. Intense excitement was caused by the attempted assassination, and the streets in the vicinity of the palace have been crowded ever since. There is no clue to the perpetrator of the outrage, but the authorities are using every effort to establish his identity and capture him.

PARIS, April 30.—A despatch from Iquiqui says the Chilian parliamentary forces have occupied Copiapo and 500 Balmacedans defending the place have fled.

JACK THE RIPPER.

The New Jersey Police Think They Have Him at Last.

JERSEY CITY, April 30.—Detectives this morning arrested a man named Labruckman, aged 29 years, a native of Morocco, and a cattle man on one of the ships to London and it is believed he is Jack the Ripper. He is Frenchy number two, whom the New York police are looking for as the murderer of the woman in East River Hotel. Labruckman was arrested at Abbatoir, foot of Sixth street. He is 5 feet 8 inches high, very dark, large nose, black eyes and speaks brokenly. He has worked on cattle boats for 14 years. Frenchy was arrested in London as "Jack the Ripper" 18 months ago, but the trial resulted in his acquittal. Frenchy arrived here in the Spain on the 10th inst., from London. After his arrival he put up at a house at 81 James street, New York, and has been in and around that part of the city until arrested to-day. He intended to sail on the Buffalo Saturday next. He says he is willing to face anybody on the charge of murdering the woman in New York.

THE OUTER HARBOR.

The Colonist replies to the TIMES "frivolous and untruthful" article re the outer wharf by what simply amounts to corroboration thereof. Says the Colonist:

"Unfortunately for Victoria, when the official survey was made this did not prove the case, for it was found that a small ridge of sand had been overlooked by the dredging party, and on this, at the lowest tides, there were but twenty-two feet."

This is pretty good corroboration of what the TIMES said in respect of depth of water at the outer wharf. The TIMES asks no more. The next phase of the question is, who is responsible for the "little ridge of sand" that made the approach to the wharf unsafe for a vessel of the size of the Empress? According to the Colonist, the dredging party "overlooked this little ridge of sand." Thus the Colonist throws the onus of the thing on Mr. Rithet, or his agents. The TIMES, however, does not hold Mr. RITHET in any way responsible. The TIMES does not assume that Mr. RITHET undertook dredging operations at the outer wharf solely with the view to facilitate the Victoria-Japan trade. Mr. RITHET is engaged in the coasting trade and the TIMES assumes that Mr. RITHET's object in deepening the water at the outer wharf was specifically intended to facilitate this line of business. Mr. RITHET would be very foolish indeed to spend perhaps $50,000 preparing an approach to the outer wharf for China steamers, having no assurance that they would land cargo. But somebody is responsible for the low stage of water at the outer wharf, together with the aforesaid "little ridge of sand." Who is it? The Colonist does not hesitate to ascribe the fault to the Dominion Government. We concur. Still, the TIMES holds the Board of Trade not altogether blameless. The alleged objection to the landing of the China steamers at the outer wharf was, that the water was not deep enough. The Board surely were no strangers to this objection. They have known it, or ought to have known it, for two years past, and for the last year they have known that if this objection applied to the Batavia it applied doubly to the Empress of India. Now, what should have been the policy if the touching of the Empress at this port and the discharging of cargo was a game worth the candle of expense that the deepening of the water at the outer wharf would entail? Manifestly should have been the appropriation of funds for dredging at the outer wharf, and an application to a beneficent Tory Government for reimbursement. But no; Victoria, without influence at Ottawa, confined herself to "kicking" and voting the straight Tory ticket. Between Victoria's inertia and her politics, her chickens are coming home to roost. No, the TIMES does not hold Mr. RITHET in the slightest degree responsible. If the vacant lot owners in this city were one-tenth part as enterprising as Mr. RITHET, the Empress would have docked at the outer wharf. The responsibility for the present state of things lies between the Dominion Government, our representatives at Ottawa, and the people who elected them.

NO "PUBLIC EFFORT."

To recur to the question of the outer wharf, the TIMES would ask the Colonist to mention what public effort is on foot to make this port available for ships of the size of the Empress of India? It is no answer to this question that a new pier is being built and that the Mudlark will return from Vancouver as soon as she has gouged a hole in the harbor of that city deep enough to float Japan steamers. Mr. RITHET is not in the wharf building and dredging business solely in the interest of the China-Japan trade. This city cannot in decency ask him to expend thousands of dollars in an enterprise in which at the most he is only indirectly interested. It would not be business, and Mr. RITHET is above all things a business man. The TIMES repeats that it knows of no specific public movement on foot having for its object the improvement of the outer wharf for trans-Pacific commercial purposes.

But the question is not confined to the depth of water alone. That which the Colonist and the importers in this city have to ponder over is not dockage merely, but the discharging of cargo. Are we to understand that freight would have been discharged at the outer wharf had there been water enough? Now Victoria wants a dock fit for the reception of the Empresses, but unless the Empresses are prepared to receive and discharge cargo at this port wherefore the necessity of their coming to dock though the water be 500 feet deep? Victoria seeing how the land lay should have instructed her representatives to secure the needed Dominion appropriation or resign. The TIMES took Mr. CROW BAKER to task for resigning, because the political jugglers at Ottawa had given him private umbrage. Mr. BAKER, however, in resigning showed backbone, an unknown quantity in the composition of Victoria's present representatives. The Colonist now has a nut to crack with its own political affiliates. Will it, speaking for the city, demand that the Dominion Government "put up" for the needed harbor improvements, and require of China-Japan steamers carrying Victoria freight that they discharge that freight at Victoria, or will it continue to tax itself in the interest of Vancouver stevedores?

ONLY THE SENATE.

Mr. CARLING is in difficulty. He is unable to find a constituency that will support him. Algoma has given him the cold shoulder; it should seem, indeed, that Mr. CARLING has no option but the Senate, a retreat which not only has fallen into desuetude but contempt. It is a little hard on the Minister of Agriculture that he should go begging for a constituency. He is credited with having been a conscientious and hard-working Minister. The Mail gives him credit for that at any rate, and it is not to be supposed that the Mail would flatter the gentleman. The trouble seems to be with Mr. CARLING that however industrious, painstaking and conscientious he may have been he is not troubled with excess of originality. Dull but respectable, hard-working but stereotyped, about fills the case of Mr. CARLING, and the people do not want him. If Mr. CARLING will just sufficiently brighten up to survey the situation impartially, he will surprise his enemies and overjoy his friends by retiring from public life.

It is said of ANNA DICKINSON that there is no doubt of her insanity and that it was caused by disappointment in love. It seems that when she was at the hight of her popularity she met WHITELAW REID, now editor of the New York Tribune, and United States Minister to France. She was favorably impressed with his ability and admired him greatly personally. When she returned to New York she saw HORACE GREELEY, with whom she had great influence, and induced Mr. GREELEY to give REID a position on the Tribune. The friendship between her and REID soon ripened into love, and they became engaged. REID was a brilliant fellow and went rapidly to the top. When he had reached the top he broke his engagement with Miss DICKINSON to marry the daughter of a New York millionaire. She was never the same woman afterward. The experience destroyed to a certain extent her confidence in human nature and she became soured. That was the one love of her life, and REID's baseness left a lasting effect.

CAPTAIN AND ENGINEER.

TO THE EDITOR.—I notice in your yesterday's paper an article signed by "Marine Engineer," in which the writer thanks you for having given credit to the engineer of the steamship Empress of India, along with the captain, for making a safe trip out here.

Although not in the least denying that engineers are very useful in helping a steamer making a trip from port to port, still as far as they are concerned about the safety of the vessel, I would remind the above writer, that the engineer of a vessel has no more to do with that than a horse pulling a wagon, the guidance of the horse or machinery being entirely in the hands of the driver or captain, who simple expects the engineer to carry out the intentions of the designer of the engines, to make the same go ahead or astern, as per indicator worked by the captain or officer in charge of the bridge. Or to make it more plain to the writer above, about in the same relation the man who works the printing press stands in to the editor of a newspaper, the editor designing or writing the articles to be printed and the engineer turning the crank of the press. Yours truly,

Must Answer the Questions.

As is usual with Chinamen, they are giving the census enumerators any amount of bother by refusing to answer questions, etc. This morning one of these individuals, who a few days ago refused to answer the questions, was brought before the police magistrate and fined $5.

Mr. Frederic Archer, the great organist, has gone to Europe, and will not return to this country until November next. It was thought possible to secure his services for the opening of the new organ for St. John's, in a few weeks, but his departure has done away with the idea.

Interesting Discovery.

A reporter was shown a large stone which had grown on the back part of the nostril of a man, and which was removed a short time ago by Dr. Ernest Hall. It had kept up an irritation for five years. It is of a similar nature to the stones that occasionally grow in the bladder. The stone is about as big as a fairly large sized bean.

Clever Opium Seizure.

Inspector William Learned made a very clever opium seizure on the steamer North Pacific at Port Townsend on Tuesday night and captured the smuggler. The opium, 19 cans, was packed in a small box surrounded with earth and a growing plant placed on top of it. The smuggler was placed in charge of the authorities to await his examination.

A Dock Full.

For the first time in several weeks, the police court dock was filled this morning, their having been a lively time in Siwashtown last night. The police raked in five Indians and two white men, who were all fined $5 for being drunk and disorderly. The Hor-bottle case, after having been remanded almost a dozen times, was dismissed at the request of the prosecution.

He also has on view a splendid collection of old coins of different countries, some of which are over 250 years old.

They Will Build.

The firm of Messrs. Heisterman & Co., will to-morrow be supplemented by Mr. Foster Magurn, as already announced. It is proposed that this old established house shall take up quarters in a more prominent location, and the heads are thinking of building.

Build on the Streets.

The surveyors appointed by the city to survey the streets inside the new limits, are now at work in Victoria West. In this portion of the city some people seem to have built their houses just where it was most convenient, for at present they are engaged in tearing down fences, moving woodsheds, houses, etc. In some places the houses have been built right on to the street and of course must now be removed.

Explosion in the Brass Shop.

About 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon an explosion occurred in the brass shop of the Albion Iron Works which, luckily, did not injure any of the employees. A little water had got mixed with some brass which was about to be melted. The result was that shortly after the brass was put in the furnance an explosion occurred, damaging the furnace and blowing a large hole in the roof. The damage can be easily repaired.

Police Statistics.

The calendar at the city police lockup shows a very quiet month during April. Out of 66 arrests that were made, not one was of a serious nature, all being very trifling. Forty-five drunks is the principal item, the rest being as follows: six larceny, four for night's lodging, 2 vagrancy, one each for supplying liquor to indians and obtaining goods under false pretences, three creating a disturbance, two for assault, and two unsound mind.

Tourist Spoons and Opera Glasses.

Mr. A. A. Clayton, of the Diamond place, Government street, has now completed and ready for inspection, a large stock of tourist spoons, suitable for souvenirs of Victoria. In the bowls of the spoons are etched scenes of the Gorge, Dunsmuir Castle, Mount Baker, and other pictures of Victoria scenery. He has also just received a consignment of beautiful opera glasses, in pearl and Russia leather, which are pronounced the finest ever imported to this city.

The Power of the Wind.

"It sounds fishy," said a gentleman from the West Coast to a reporter yesterday, "but it's a positive fact that in the recent gale up at Queen Charlotte Islands a huge scow, weighing over four tons, was lifted wholly out of the water, where it had been lying bottom upwards, and carried away a distance of a mile and a half. The scow belonged to Lundberg brothers. And a house was taken from its resting place and set in the branches of some trees, a distance of one mile away. That's wind for you."

Is it Young Bissett?

A man named Peters brought the news to town last night that a body of some unknown person had been found on the beach at Saanich Arm yesterday. As it was thought that it might be the body of young Bissett, who was drowned some months ago while fishing on the Arm, Capt. Bissett, his brother, went out to-day. The distance being rather long, the walk from Goldstream to the Arm being several miles over a rough trail, it is not likely that the captain will return before to-morrow, especially if he has to carry the body back.

Changed Hands.

Mr. Wm. Jensen, who since 1877 has successfully run the Occidental hotel, at the corner of Wharf and Johnson streets, has disposed of the business to Messrs. H. R. Berryman and C. Andrews. The former has for years had charge of the bar, and the latter the office, so that they are both thoroughly acquainted with the way the Occidental should be run. Since Mr. Jensen has had charge he has added to the building and improved the accomodation which has won a name for the Occidental. All Mr. Jensen's time will be occupied at his new hotel on Dallas Road which is now nearing completion.

Will Remove an Eyesore.

The Hamilton Powder Company's magazine which for years past has stood on the banks of the Gorge, is no longer to remain there a source of danger to the residents and anything but an ornament to the pretty spot where it is situated. Dr. Thomas C. Brainard, manager of the company, who is at present in the city, will, before he leaves for home, have the magazine removed. He is now negotiating for a piece of land on Langford Plains near the E. & N. Railway station, where he will build a new one which will be well out of the way of residences and an easy place to ship powder to and from. The property where the present building is situated is offered for sale.

Mayor Grant received the following invitation to-day from Mayor White of Seattle:

SEATTLE, April 21, 1891.

To His Honor Mayor Grant, Victoria, British Columbia.

SIR,—It gives me pleasure to join the City Council of Seattle in extending to your honor and other citizens of Victoria a cordial invitation to be present on the occasion of the visit here of the President of the United States, on May 6th.

The neighborly relations existing between your city and ours warrants us in welcoming you to share in the social courtesies contemplated.

I have appointed a special committee to meet you on your arrival, should it be convenient for you to come.

I am, sir, yours respectfully,
HENRY WHITE,
Mayor of Seattle.

It is probable that Mayor Grant and several aldermen will accept the invitation, and join with the Seattle council in welcoming President Harrison to the Northwest.

A SAD RETURNING.

Steamer Sir James Douglas Returns With the Dead Body of Stephen Ash.

Steamer Sir James Douglas (Captain Gordon) returned to port this morning from a tour of the various light houses and coast stations.

Captain Gordon had news which will be a sad blow to a wife and two children, the family of Stephen Ash, who met his death during the trip by falling off a cliff at Cape Beal last Monday. Ash went ashore at that point with a party who found it necessary to traverse the woods by a trail for about four miles. He strayed from the rest in the woods, and notwithstanding the fact that a careful search was instituted he could not be found. Monday night some Indians found him dead on the shore under the cliff from which he had evidently fallen. It was then too dark, even had the tide permitted, for the steamer to venture near the point, but a party was dispatched by the captain to bring back the body. They took up the poor fellow and conveyed him to the ship.

The coroner, Dr. Morrison, was notified of the fact this morning on the arrival of the Douglas, and Captain Gordon had the painful duty of breaking the sad news to Mrs. Ash.

Mr. Ash was a man of about 30 years, was steady and generally liked.

The various lighthouses visited reported everything quiet and satisfactory.

ARCHER THE SUBLIME.

Frederic Archer Holds Entranced Another Music Loving Audience at St. Andrew's.

Mr. Frederic Archer was listened to with rapt attention and interest again last evening by a large and thoroughly delighted audience. He seemed to play even better (if that were possible) than the previous evening, but the real reason was that the audience had caught his spirit and he took them entirely with him. His programme again last night was one of lofty refinement, as will have been seen from the copy published last evening. One number after another was played and the audience listened to representative pieces from the composition of great masters of the various schools. It was only at the close of a number that the audience realized that they had been listening to the strains of St. Andrew's church organ. It seemed under the touch of those magic fingers to be transformed into such instruments as those in Yorkminster, the Alexandra or Crystal Palace, or Melbourne town hall.

Mr. Archer made the organ live, and although many present last evening had heard the same pieces played by other hands, never had they listened to them interpreted with such soul and grandeur as coming from the wonderful Archer.

Mr. Fenwick deserves the utmost credit for his efforts to secure such a double treat for Victorians.

Williams' Directory of British Columbia (edition 1892) will, in the early summer visit all principal cities of the Dominion and United States of America to place this most useful work to the best advantage and to advertise the whole province throughout the east. THE RACES POSTPONED.

The Victoria Jockey Club's Spring Meeting Deferred Until Next Friday and Saturday.

A hastily called meeting of the Victoria Jockey Club was called in Brackman & Ker's office at 3 o'clock this afternoon, Mr. Dalby in the chair, to consider, in view of the unfavorable state of the weather, the advisability of postponing the spring meeting, which was to have come off to-morrow and Saturday. It was decided, after some discussion on the legality of the proceeding, to declare the races off.

Mr. Gordon then moved that the spring meeting of the V. J. C. be held next Friday and Saturday, May 8 and 9, and that entries therefore close on Tuesday evening next at 11 o'clock.

This was carried, and the meeting adjourned.

A PROGRESSIVE CHURCH.

The Gorge Road Methodist Congregation Will Build a Larger Church.

A joint meeting of the trustees and quarterly board of the Gorge Road Methodist Church was held last evening and the matter of erecting a larger and more commodious building was discussed in its entirety. The congregation there is rapidly out-growing the present edifice, and the urgent need of a more commodious building is being felt every week.

It was accordingly decided to build a church costing $13,000 provided the congregation and the supporters of the church would guarantee $8,000 of that sum, subscriptions to extend over two years in four half-yearly instalments. There is no doubt, whatever, of the success of the proposition, and the authorities hope soon to invite plans for the new church.

Census Information.

Apropos of the census, it is said that the Duke of Wellington, then 82 years of age, returned himself as deaf—a touching trait of his truthfulness, though, of course, deafness, as an infirmity of old age, did not come within the scope of census enquiries. On the other hand, "a clergyman refused to return the schedule to the parish clerk, who was the enumerator, and sent it direct to the central office, alleging that if he had done otherwise his wife's age would have become a topic of gossip in the beer shops of the village." "In Devonshire a middle-aged man refused to make out his schedule, saying that he did not know either his name or his place of birth, and he would not perjure himself by making a false entry.' An 'author' added to his return a note stating that his wife said he was 'both idiot and lunatic.'"

A general meeting of the Westminster Cricket Club was held Tuesday night when the question of securing five acres of land on Lulu Island for club grounds was considered. The club will probably take hold of the land as a joint stock company, limiting the shares to members of the club.

Some use has at last been found for sawdust. It is now mixed with mortar in lieu of hair. A most effective combination is two parts of sawdust, two parts of lime, five of sand and one of cement, which is said will remain firm and not peel off. A German technical school has also been making a series of experiments with sawdust, and has now proved that it can be used as a building material. The sawdust is mixed with special refuse mineral products, and under heavy pressure are made into bricks, which are very light, impervious to wet and absolutely fireproof. It is stated that a slab of this substance, which was placed for five hours in a coal fire, came out of the test intact.

GALLONS OF ICE WATER.

The Amount of Ice Used by the Government Employes at Washington.

"The amount of ice consumed by the departments in Washington is enormous in the aggregate," said a big dealer in the article to a Washington Star reporter. "At the Treasury building alone a ton and a half of ice is delivered every morning for the day's consumption. Each room, you see, has its water cooler, or at least, a pitcher, which must be kept filled with cold drink from nine a. m. to four p. m. The ice is delivered in great blocks from carts at the door, and the messengers chop it up into pieces, fill buckets with the lumps and carry the buckets all over the building, distributing to each pitcher or cooler its proper supply. In the cellar there are big refrigerators, which are filled wit' a reserved stock. Nothing is put in these refrigerators except ice, the clerks not even being allowed to keep bottled beer in them for noontide refreshments.

"It is the same way with all the other departments. The War, State and Navy together use about as much as is consumed in the Treasury building. But it is the Department of the Interior that is the great devourer of ice. In the Pension Office and the main building of the department together from five to six tons are used every twenty-four hours. The post-office gobbles up twelve hundred pounds a day. However, you must remember that these quantities are always variable. In summer much more goes than in winter, and, if the hot season is unusually long or intense, we people who take the contracts are apt to find them far from profitable.

"Each department makes its own contract for ice. Bids are advertised for annually and the dealer who offers a supply for the following year at the lowest rate gets the job. It is, to a certain extent, a gamble, inasmuch as no definite amount of ice is agreed upon. The contractor receives so much money for providing a department with all the frozen water that it requires, whatever this quantity may be. Taking all the departments together, with their branches, it is probable that they consume about wenty-four thousand pounds of ice daily, averaging the year round. This makes a total annual consumption of a g od deal over four thous and tons."

AMONG STRANGERS.

The Pathetic End of a Stranger In a Strange Land.

When I get to the depot half an hour ahead of time, or when I am compelled to wait for an hour or two at some junction, says a writer in the New York Sun, I like to be social with my fellow victims. Hang the man who makes a chum of himself under any circumstances, particularly when he travels.

Eight or ten of us had been thrown off at a railroad junction in Indiana to wait for two hours, and it wasn't ten minutes before we were all talking, visiting, smoking and yarning. All but one, I am, of course, speaking of the men. The ladies held the sitting room, while we took the platform. This one was a middle-aged man, who took his valise and sat down at the far end of the platform, as if to get as far from us as could. Everybody noticed his action and he was put down as a sour-minded chap who could have added nothing to our comfort. We simply did by him as he did by us—let him severely alone.

About ten minutes before train time I noticed that the man was asleep. I made bold to approach him and call out, but he did not move. Going closer, the peculiar pallor of his face alarmed me, and in another minute I discovered that he was dead. He had passed away while he slept. When we came to lift him up what do you suppose we found? He had been writing in a note-book with a pencil, and the last lines he had written were:

"A stranger in a strange land, and sick unto death, and yet no one has a word of sympathy—no one will even come near me. May God forgive them for being so stony-hearted. I hope that by to-morrow——"

But no to-morrow ever came to him. It came to all the rest of us, but, come as often as it may, none of us will ever feel just right toward ourselves. We had misjudged him.

AN INDIAN COWBOY.

He Could Not Get Used to the Ways of Civilization.

The Indian vaqueros, who lived much of the time on the more distant cattle ranges, were a wild set of men. I remember one of them, named Martin, says a writer in Century, who was stationed in Amador valley and became a leader of the hill vaqueros, who were very different from the vaqueros of the large valley near the Missions. He and his friends killed and ate three or four hundred young heifers belonging to the Mission, but when Easter approached he felt that he must confess his sins, so he went to Father Narciso and told all about it. The father forgave him, but ordered him to come in from the hills to the Mission and attend school until he could read. The rules were very strict; whoever failed twice in a lesson was always whipped. Martin was utterly unable to learn his letters, and he was whipped every day for a month; but he never complained. He was then dismissed, and went back to the hills. I used to question Martin about the affair, and he would tell me with perfect gravity of manner, which was very delightful, how many calves he had consumed and how wisely the good father had punished him. He knew now, he used to say, how very hard it was to live in the town, and he would never steal again lest he might have to go to school until he had learned his letters.

The Graceful Japanese.

Sir Edwin Arnold, who has become more Japanese than the Mikado's court, expresses the belief that the Japanese women are "semi-angelic," says an exchange. He declares the race to be the most graceful Nation in the world, and says that "their simple joy of life, their universal alacrity to please and be pleased, their almost divine sweetness of disposition," make them models of dignified and elegant behavior, above all other nations.

BURDETTE'S PHILOSOPHY.

He Reveals the Secret of Preserving Perpetual Youth.

Robert J. Burdette is a sunny and wholesome philosopher, in whose humor there is no lurking asp. In the Ladies' Home Journal he takes up the role of Solomon about where Solomon left off in Ecclesiastes, and tells us how to live, so that when we are old all will not be vanity and vexation of spirit. But listen to the preacher.

"Some people carefully disguise the fact that they are growing old, but a coat of paint on an old house merely makes it look smart; it doesn't keep the rickety old stairway from cracking, and it won't straighten up the window frame that's gone a little askew as the house settles. You can—or at least the man from whom I bought my last horse can—fix up an old horse of seventeen years to look like a frisky colt of three or four, and to act it, too, for about fifteen minutes. But it won't last. There are times when a woman who is walking along that pleasant decade of her pilgrimage between the fortieth and fiftieth milestones, feels inspired to run, and leap, and dance, and sing, and renew her youth in various ways, but the spirit is evanescent, and the fashion of it passeth away, and she saveth 'of laughter, It is mad; and of mirth, What doeth it?' And she looketh upon 'the men singers and the women singers, and the delights of the sons of men,' and behold, all is vanity and vexation of spirit, and there is no profit to her in that sort of thing.

"'But,' says you, 'can not one be young hearted after forty?' Yea, beloved, after sixty or seventy. Down to the days of white-haired old age the heart may glow with tenderness, and the quiet warmth of the June sunshine of years ago stored away in its chambers as ages ago the sun stored its heat and light away in the forest of the earth, to dance and gleam and glow in merry flames and summer warmth upon the coal-fed hearths to-day. For this reason, O my young readers, rejoice in the days of your youth, when the light is sweet and it is a pleasant thing for the eyes to behold the sun; let your hearts cheer for you in these days of sunshine and nights of starlight, and 'remove anger from thy heart, and put away evil from thy flesh,' remembering 'the days of darkness, for they shall be many!' And the firelight that will come to glow upon the hearth and dance in warmth and tenderness upon the walls of your heart's chambers in those days will be the light you are storing away now. Be happy and light hearted, then; but be the house of your mirth as pure as a temple, and your laughter sinless as the songs of birds; in all your mirth and dancing exalt wisdom; and, indeed, she shall bring thee to honor and give to thine head an ornament of grace; then shall the years of thy life be many and thy heart be ever young."

A GEM CALENDAR.

When to Give Away Precious Stones and What They Signify.

From time immemorial, says the Philadelphia Times, gems of all sorts have had their mystic significance and their appropriate times and seasons for adoration and presentation. The breastplate of the Jewish high priest had its oracular gems, which were called the "urim and thummim." The enchanter, Appollonius Tyanaeus, wore special rings for magical purposes, with appropriate gems for each day of the week in order to command the particular spirit for each day.

The Hermetic brethren had certain rules in relation to the power of precious stones to bring good or evil fortune through the planetary affinity of certain days. They imagined that certain gems were produced through the operation of the planets working secretly in the telluric body. They apportioned the stones for each day as follows:

Sunday is devoted to all yellow gems, like the topaz, in order to draw down propitious influences and avert the antagonistic efforts of the spirits through its ruler and name-giver—the sun.

Monday, pearls and white stones, not diamonds, should be worn or presented, because this is the moon day.

Tuesday, the day of Mars, suggests rubies and all stones of a fiery luster.

Wednesday is the day for turquoises, sapphires and all precious stones which reflect the blue vault of heaven.

Thursday, being the day of Thor, or divine sacrifice, demands amethysts and all deep-colored and sanguine-tinted stones.

Friday, the day of Venus, has its appropriate emeralds, and reigns over all the varieties of the imperial, yet sinister color—green.

Saturday, devoted to Saturn, the oldest of the gods, claims as its distinctive talisman the queen of precious stones, the diamond, which is produced from the back of Sat, or Saturn, the origin of all visible things.

Packages by Electricity.

What is termed telpherage, or the conveyance of parcels by electricity along lines of wire placed overhead, is little known in this country beyond the stage of experiment. In South America a line has been constructed one hundred and eighty-six miles long, which will place Buenos Ayres and Montevideo in communication. Across the La Plata there is a swing for the wires of nineteen miles, and the initial start for the journey is afforded by two towers two hundred and seventy feet in height. It is intended to dispatch letter boxes between the two cities at intervals of two hours.

Benevolent Monarchs.

Duke Charles of Bavaria and his noble wife spend the greater part of their time in caring for the sick and distressed. Both are thoroughly trained oculists, and the Duke has established, at his own expense, a large hospital in Bavaria, in which the eye department is open to all poor patients, without charge. The Duchess is his most valuable assistant and takes part in the skillful operations, for which he is so famous. She also visits patients at their homes and often stays to nurse them herself.

THE CRY OF MILLIONS

OH, MY BACK!

STOP IT NOW,

SOON IT WILL BE TOO LATE.

I have been troubled many years with disease of the kidneys and have tried many different remedies and have sought aid from different physicians without relief. About the 15th of April I was suffering from a very violent attack that almost prostrated me in such a manner that I was bent over. When I sat down it was almost impossible for me to get up alone, or to put on my clothes, when kind Providence sent Dr. Henley, with the DRAGON KIDNEY TEA, to my hotel. I immediately commenced using the tea. It had an almost miraculous effect, and to the astonishment of all the guests at the hotel, in a few days, I am happy to state, that I was a new man. I will recommend the tea to all afflicted as I have been.

THE LIFE OF A PILOT

A TIMES REPORTER MAKES SOME INVESTIGATIONS.

A Contrast Between Life on the Ocean Wave in a Pilot Boat and a Reporter's Vocation—Watching for the Empress With Capt. Thompson.

Is a pilot's life a happy one? That depends. The dude would scarcely find life on a pilot boat to his liking. Afloat in a small craft is not a good place for collars and cuffs. He who would be a dude must keep away from a pilot boat, and it may be said with equal truth that a pilot boat has no use for a dude. But is a pilot's life really endurable whatever the individual, dude or otherwise? This is not an easy question to answer. Pilots, or more broadly speaking sailors, are born not made. The man with an innate predilection for the sea falls into the worship of Neptune with the same facility that a duck takes to water. He will admit that the real estate business is a softer thing, and he sometimes dabbles in it to assure himself of a pretty penny when he shall have ceased to be seaworthy; he will even admit that there are features about a reporter's life that are preferable to life on the ocean wave; but born for the sea, having in the sea an affinity, it is only on that element that he is really at home. Speaking of reporters in this connection reminds us that as between reporting and sailing we have two distinctively antithetic occupations. The reporter might possibly make a sailor but the true blue sailor would never make a reporter. And yet in other respects there is much in common between the reporter and the sailor. They entertain for each other the mutual respect incident of men who are engaged in respectively ticklish vocations. The sailor wonders how the reporter manages to escape the boot of "old subscriber," the reporter wonders how the sailor manages to survive the "belaying pin" of the skipper. The sailor gazing on the "top hamper" of the reporter marvels at his literary fecundity. The reporter heaving up the product of the "galley" marvels at the ability of the sailor to keep it down. Each marvel at the qualities of the other, mutual admiration supervenes and amenities transpire if there is any grog about, provided always, of course, if the reporter can keep it down. With such friendly relations as these existing between the press and the sea, it not infrequently happens that the former take a trip afloat. It so happened last Sunday. The newspaper man wanted to be among the first to welcome the Empress of India, and he also felt that a slight intestinal shaking up would contribute to the removal of superfluous bile. The Alert, Captain Clark, offered, and in company with Captains Thompson and Buckland, pilots for this port, he went aboard. The Alert is a snug little craft of some thirty tons; crew consisting of captain and mate, first and second engineers, and "Murphy" the cook, who, by the way, is a Celestial. A jolly crew. Murphy, even, was good humored. His was a subdued humor, the reverse of what is characteristic of an alleged Irishman. It might be said of him, perhaps, that his air was mildly deprecatory, that of a man who knew himself to be more useful than popular, and who in the case of a misunderstanding might be easily dumped overboard. Murphy disappeared early. The engineer's weird experiences on the Spanish Main re-inforced by some of Captain Thompson's blood-curdling adventures probably accelerated his departure. He made his exit through a hatch in the cabin floor, his little bunk being just beneath and abaft the engine room. Murphy's mild deprecatory countenance was no more seen until the next morning at four bells when it followed a platter of beef steaks into the cabin the same mild deprecatory expression on it still. In tracing up Murphy so closely other characters have drifted to leeward. Let us go back and pick them up. Captain Buckland, as reserved as Cassius, stuck closely to the pilot house. He was afraid the Empress would come along and run us down. Later, however, when we discovered him in Captain Clarke's bunk sound asleep it struck us that his partiality for the forward part of the ship had been actuated by an ulterior motive. Captain Clarke's bunk offered superior attractions to the weary mariner. He would be close at hand when the Empress should be sighted. Captain Thompson was not so lucky as his confrere. His position was a reclining one but in the course of his slumbers he drifted foul of the table, a position which threatened to break him in two amidships. In the morning the captain complained of feeling as if he had been "hogged." The reporter was luckier than Capt. Thompson. He occupied a bench and he had a mattress under him, and a quilt over him. Since, in an upright position, the interior department of the reporter appeared to be "pied" the horizontal supplied a long felt want. The reporter, however, had said nothing about his internal symptoms. He left it to his ghastly countenance to tell the tale, but he privately envied everybody on board, Murphy not excepted. Morning came heavy and thick. The vessel as it rose and fell to the undulations of the Straits, represented doubtless the poetry of motion; but gastronomically considered it heightened the reporter's prejudice toward Murphy who was trying steak with sang froid and with his usual expression of deprecatoriness. Confound the Chinaman! thought the reporter. The per capita tax ought to be doubled! What right has a Chinaman not to be sea sick? But Murphy had no advantage over the rest of the crew. Captain Thompson for all that he had struck bad anchorage ground stowed away his ballast of steak with relish, while Captain Clark and the engineer seemed determined to load themselves down to the Plimsoll line and a fraction over. Captain Buckland was not present. Having been "hove to" all night he was now on watch, fresh as a daisy. There was now no danger of being run down by the Empress, and perhaps it was this comforting reflection that caused the reporter to join the others in taking in ballast. But the Empress did not heave in sight, and for the rest of the day down the Straits the tug drifted, passing Beechy Bay, Sooke and other not unfamiliar points. Stopping at one point we were told that a steamer had been seen, standing in from the sea. This vessel proved afterwards to be the Umatilla. Captain Thompson subsequently boarded her, and later the tug followed the big coaster to Victoria, for orders, her charter having expired. Arrived at Victoria the tug found orders to put about, and to remain out until the Empress should be sighted. Mr. Baker, principal owner in the Alert, with commendable public spirit, was determined that the pilots should lack no facility in the performance of their duties. The reporter, however, at this juncture abandoned the ship. The Empress had failed him, he would not fail the Empress. But it was now without regret that he left the sailor boys to resume their watch for the pioneer steamer of the Canadian Pacific. Good fellows, jolly fellows, they, to be afloat with, and above all, alert and vigilant. Watch, watch, watch, is a pilot's life. A hunt for ships as a reporter hunts for items, but more wearing and more vexatious. A pilot's life is not an unhappy one, but the reporter somehow thought that as between a millionaire and a pilot he would much prefer to be the former.

Patent medicines differ—one has reasonableness, another has not. One has reputation—another has not. One has confidence, born of success—another has only "hopes."

Don't take it for granted that all patent medicines are alike. They are not. Let the years of uninterrupted success and the tens of thousands of cured and happy men and women, place Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription on the side of the comparison to which they belong. And there isn't a state or territory, no—nor hardly a country in the world, whether its people realize it or not, but have men and women in them that're happier because of their discovery and their effects.

Think of this in health. Think of it in sickness. And then think whether you can afford to make the trial if the makers can afford to take the risk to give your money back, as they do, if they do not benefit or cure you.

Spring Cleaning.

Be particular every spring to clean the house, but never mind cleansing the the blood until some troublesome disease takes hold of you. This is poor policy when, by using Burdock Blood Bitters, the blood will be thoroughly cleansed, the body strengthened and future suffering prevented.

Nature requires aid in correcting irregularities at this season, and for both men and women no other remedy equals Dr. Williams' Pink Pills as a spring blood tonic. They supply all the constituents necessary to enrich the blood and build up the system. Sold by all dealers, or sent post paid on receipt of price—50c. per box, or five bottles for $2—by addressing Dr. Williams Med. Co., Brockvill Ont.

The Queen City Building Society helps you to save money. It will aid you in building a house. You may by its means become your own landlord. Prospectus & Bylaws at 46 Fort street.

COAL

The New Vancouver Coal Mining & Land Co., L'd.

(FORMERLY THE VANCOUVER COAL CO.),

ARE THE LARGEST COAL PRODUCER ON THE PACIFIC COAST.

THE NANAIMO COAL

(Used principally for Gas and Domestic Purposes).

THE SOUTH FIELD COAL

(Steam Fuel).

THE NEW WELLINGTON COAL

(House and Steam Coal) are mined by this Company only.

THE "NANAIMO" COAL gives a large percentage of Gas, a high Illuminating Power, unequalled by any other Bituminous Gas Coal in the world, and a superior quality of Coke.

THE "SOUTH FIELD" COAL is now used by all the Leading Steamship Lines on the Pacific.

THE "NEW WELLINGTON" COAL, which was introduced early in the present year, has already become a favorite fuel for domestic purposes. It is a clean, hard coal, makes a bright and cheerful fire, and its lasting qualities make it the most economical fuel in the market.

The several Mines of the Company are connected with their Wharves at Nanaimo and Departure Bay, where ships of the largest tonnage are loaded at all stages of the tide. Special dispatch is given to Mail and Ocean steamers.

BEFORE THE COUNCIL;

—OR—

Social Life in Victoria.

THE ABOVE WORK IS THE OUTCOME of the recent Moral Reform Movement which took place in the Capital City of British Columbia, and which played such an prominent part in the late Municipal Elections held there. The author discusses the various phases of the question, and has endeavored to deal with the subject in a manner that will be interesting and some practical benefit to every reader into whose hands his book may fall. The position taken by the Ministers of the Christian Churches in regard to the Municipal Election, above referred to is also fully dealt with, and although the criticisms may seem severe to some, the author hopes the conclusions drawn and the desire he has shown to do a service, no matter how slight it may be, to the weak and fallen, will meet with the approval of all lovers of justice and humanity.

Personal Liberty vs Physical Slavery.

We are all free Americans citizens, enjoying our personal liberty; but most of us are in physical slavery, suffering from scrofula, salt rheum or some other form of impure blood. Hood's Sarsaparilla is the great blood purifier which disolves the bonds of disease, gives health and perfect physical liberty.
